

Our faith in art: Be sure to look up The Virgin and Child from the workshop of Bernardino Luini (c. 1480 – 1532). This painter lived in the same area (Lombardy, Italy) and at the same time as Leonardo da Vinci (who died in 1519). Both artists trained at the Lombard School and doubtless used some of the same people as models for their work. Some of da Vinci's work has been attributed to Luini (and the other way around, of course).
